

Institute of Legal Executives, Bournemouth & District Branch in association with Bournemouth University

National Pro Bono Week is a joint initiative of the Law Society, Bar Council, Institute of Legal Executives, Bar Pro Bono Unit and LawWorks (formerly the Solicitors Pro Bono Group) whose aims are:

- To encourage lawyers not yet involved in pro bono work to see and experience what is happening, ask questions and then commit to action
- To ensure those who need pro bono help know where to find it
- To give voluntary organisations an opportunity to voice their needs for assistance

For the third year running, Bournemouth will be host to a series of events to promote and encourage pro bono work locally. This year, the events will be hosted by Bournemouth University providing a central and easily accessible location along with excellent facilities. The events comprise a seminar offered free of charge to community and voluntary groups and another delivered by LawCare aimed at lawyers and trainee lawyers offering CPD points. After the seminars all are welcome to stay for the launch of a local pro bono service Bournemouth & Poole Pro Bono and a buffet lunch providing an informal networking opportunity for all.
